SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL LIBRARY

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2019 with funding from North Carolina Digital Heritage Center

This 1957 Whirligg, eighth in a series, was planned, designed, and published by a staff of Greensboro Senior High School students. Engravings are by Jahn and Ollier Engraving Company of Chicago, informal and group photographs by Martin Studio of Greensboro, class portraits by Belk's Studio of Greensboro. Washburn Printing Company of Charlotte printed this book in a limited edition of fourteen hundred copies.

THE 1957 WHIRLIGIG

PUBLISHED BY THE STUDENTS

GREENSBORO SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL

GREENSBORO, NORTH CAROLINA

DEDICATION

To you... who are the epitome of the principles we most respect and admire... whose high standards have become a tradition at Senior... who have contributed 180 years of loving service... To you — Mrs. Nellie D. Blackburn, Miss Mary Ellen Blackmon, Mr. Stanley Johnson, Miss Estelle Mitchell, Miss Ida Belle Moore, Mr. A. P. Routh — we gratefully dedicate this 1957 Whirligig.

FOREWORD

More than learning equatious and sentence structure,

Beyond enjoying ball games, open houses, or dances,

Our life at Senior High is three years

In which we broaden the scope of our knowledge . . .

In which we mature,

Preparing ourselves for whatever future lies ahead.

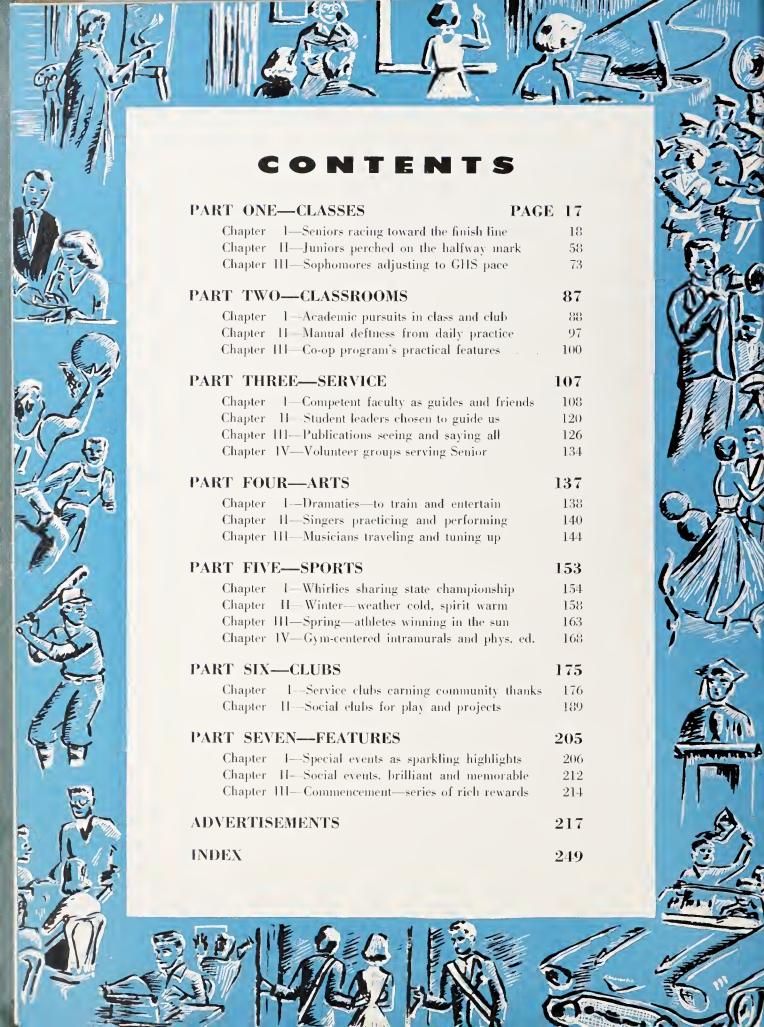

The 1957 Whirligig Staff has worked diligently,

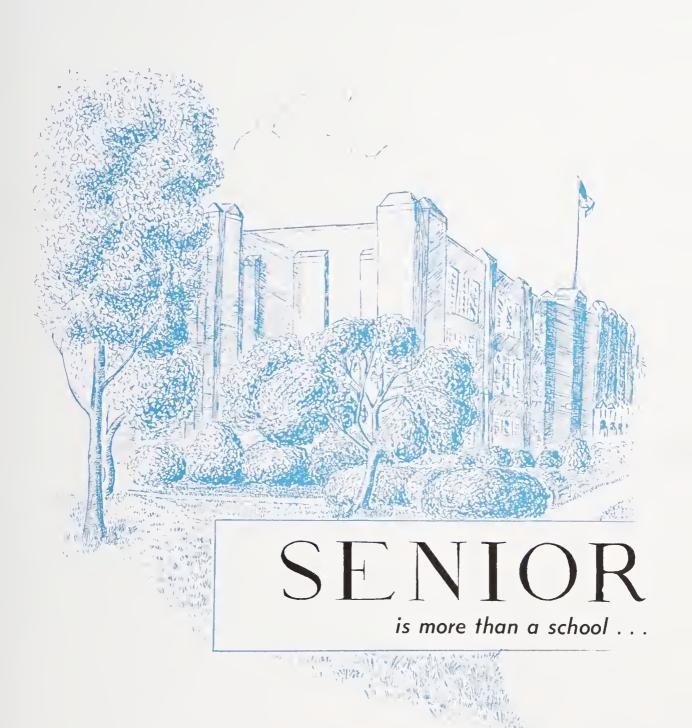

Striving to convey the truth in a book

Which echoes our rewarding days

At Greensboro Senior High...

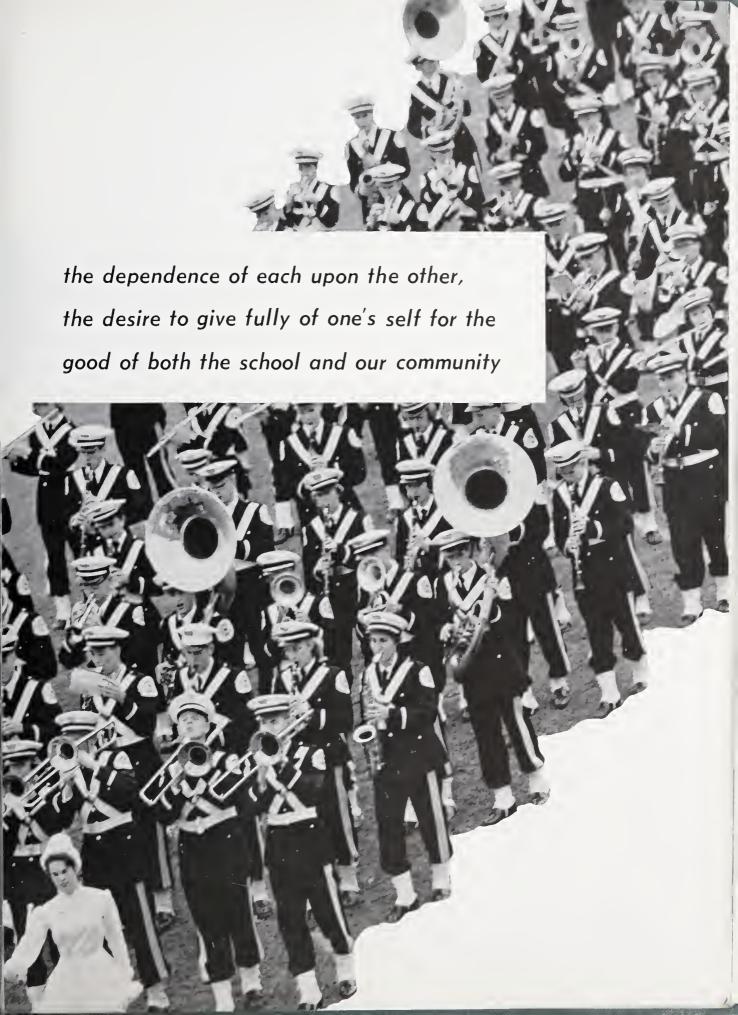

every individual being an integral part of the whole . . . whether during the participation in the various class activities or amid the laughter and cheers at an athletic or social event

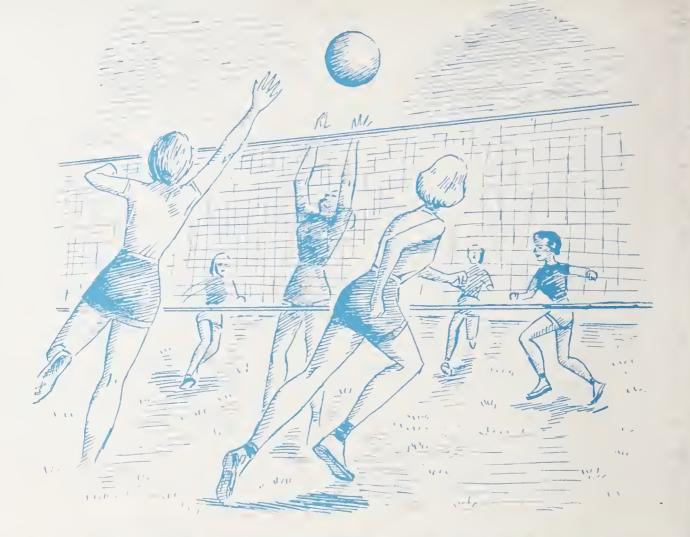

It is SHARING

It is GROWING

not only in scientific knowledge and physical strength, but in strength of character, in wisdom, and in a deeper understanding of ourselves and our fellow students . . .

It is a

attained . . .

of hard work

and tireless effort

the final

achievement . . .

the future

depends upon

you.

PART ONE - CLASSES

Chapter I — Seniors Racing Toward the Finish Line

Seniors glance over their shoulders to take stock of the past three short years, to remember the awe at entering the cosmopolitan world of Senior High, to feel pride in our honor code, in the choir, band and orchestra, in the publications and programs, in the individuals that make these years so wonderfully special.

Seniors remember bisecting their first frogs, the excitment of elections, the tension of the nominating convention, the joy of being a part of living democracy, and singing the school song for the last time. They remember championship football and basketball teams, the elation of classmates over that spectacular play that won the game.

More than anything, they remember that spirit that is Senior, that intangible something that puts every student on the same team, working in all ways to make our school the best.

Now they must go on. They must entrust their school to the eager hands of underclassmen. But the actions of this class will be remembered, for they have added a strong and rich chapter to the Story of Greensboro High School.

Chapter II - Juniors Perched on the Halfway Mark

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS, hoping that their class will add its share of awards to the trophy shelves, are President Wallace Williams, Treasurer Harry Smith, Adviser Mrs. Jean Newman, Vice-President Prissy Wyrick, Secretary Jan Phillips.

THE JUNIOR CLASS began another busy year with the registration in the fall. The so-called school-life "drudgery" was enlivened by events which every member of the class will long remember. During the fall, many a Junior's home became mysteriously over-stocked with candy and stationery, and the door-to-door campaigns proved to each that he could be a good salesman if he tried. In November, war paint was donned by many who aided in the presentation of the Thanksgiving Program, which was an inspiration to all.

Students' time was spent not only on extracurricular activities but on academic pursuits as well. This was reflected by the various honors and awards that the students received; many of these were state awards. In the field of sports the juniors were also proud of their representation, for several juniors made superior records in swimming, wrestling, etc.

After the devasting effect of exams at midsemester, came an additional task—writing a short story. This was an interesting and enlightening experience—though painful while it lasted. In the spring when each received his school ring, the juniors realized that there was just one more step before their high school careers would be ended.

Chapter III - Sophomores Adjusting to GHS Pace

A SOPHOMORE, after his first look at Senior, feels he can never become an important part of such a fast-moving group as we have at GHS. So many buildings, the stairs you go up. the ones you go down. exams, and registration—all are familiar to us now: but in the beginning we were just "green sophomores."

This year has not passed without being eventful for some of the sophomores. Representing this class on the swimming teams, Judy Weaver has excelled and Betsy Glynn has set two state records and one national record. David Nance is also a champion swimmer. On junior varsity teams many other sophomores have made good records.

Not only Senior High, but all of Greensboro is proud of this sophomore! Frances Demetriou, a native of Greece, who has won state acclaim in the "I Speak for Democracy" contest and gone on to become one of the finalists in the national contest.

But now that the year has passed and new acquaintances and friends have been made, the halls, as well as the imposing number of students, have shrunk right along with our longings for the old junior high.

We know now that we are an important part of Senior, and we are looking forward to becoming juniors next year.

Demetriou, State Speech Winner, Places Nationally

PART TWO - CLASSROOMS

Chapter I - Academic Pursuits in Class and Club

ENGLISH students were kept busy with paragraphs to write, reports to make, assignments to read. There was much talk of sentence structure, punctuation, spelling, vocabulary building. Parallel books had to be read somehow, in spite of TV and club meetings. Poems had to be paraphrased or memorized. There were themes to write, with subjects varying from door knobs to space ships.

Sophomores got acquainted with Silas Marner and Julius Caesar. Juniors stretched their minds over such great documents as the "Declaration of Independence" and the ideas of Walt Whitman and Emerson. They polished their creative ability slightly, though painfully, by writing a "short story."

Seniors probed deep into their past for material to make an autobiography interesting. They jauntily rattled off "Whan that Aprille . . . " or worked with partners to portray the most moving scenes from "Hamlet." They bragged about their mastery of the Reader's Guide, their "college-level" term papers.

THE LIBRARY was like an oasis to many thirsty ones, with its treasures and opportunities. It was there for classes to go to, for a reading period or for research. Its career files and PROJECTS like this scene from "As You Like It," help English and Shakespeare classes increase their appreciation.

THIS STUDENT REALIZES that the best way to nuderstand English or any subject is to ask questions.

ENGLISH STUDENTS are lost without our library.

reference books never gathered dust; its card catalogue was constantly in use. English assignments might start and end in some class room, but very often they passed lingeringly through the library, and stopped there to grow.

Mr. Thomas Mitchell, genial star of "O. Henry Playhouse," visited Senior and talked with English classes.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES — FRENCH and other foreign languages offered at Senior open the doorway to new ideas and an awareness of many phases of the lives of other nationalities. As the student of French wanders through this door and up new avenues of learning, he gains not only a knowledge of the French language, but a deeper insight into the art, literature, customs and ideas of the French people themselves. Nor does it all come from textbooks. Post cards, magazines, letters from "pen pals," and films gave this year's classes that extra interest that made them fun. Every six weeks the classes turned into clubs, with something unusual in the way of a program, and even now and then a little Gallic surprise, like the "petits fours" at Christmas time.

MeBane, Hawkins, McCuistan, T. Thompson, J. Thompson, Hurst, W. Ellis, Foster, Greeson, Lyday, Corcoran. Fifth row: Wimberly, Pearee, Harrison, Stevens, Hewett, Stokes, Penfield, Tobin, Byrum, Mrs. Mary Madlin, Baker, Spanlding, JUNIOR CLASSICAL LEAGUE had its largest membership this year. The club's year began with a candlelight induction service, introducing new members—mostly sophomores—to the club.

At the Christmas meeting the members heard the Christmas story in Latin and in English, then sang carols in Latin. At last summer's national JCL Convention in Ohio, Geraldine Welch and Peggy Earle had represented the local chapter.

JCL OFFICERS are Vice-President Wyrick, Treasurer Stevens, President Harrison, and Secretary Wimberly.

AUTHENTIC COSTUMES and a prize-winning scrapbook bring Senior a glimpse of ancient Rome.

In February many members went to Chapel Hill for the state JCL meeting. There some of them gave a skit of one of the twelve labors of Hercules.

LA ALIANZA ESPANOLA began the vear with a meeting at which Ginger Parker showed slides of Guatemala and other Central American countries. From her, the members learned more about the people and conditions in these lands "south of the border." At a later meeting one of Senior's students, Tony Martinez, originally from Cuba, visited the club and explained the dating customs and home life of that country. Another of their activities was corresponding with teenagers in the Spanishspeaking countries, and sharing experiences and attempts at writing in a foreign language. Members gained experience in speaking Spanish, and several learned the "Jarabe Tapotia." a favorite dance of Mexican young people. Through these activities La Alianza Espanola fulfilled its purpose, which is to give students who are interested in Spanish a chance to speak it and learn more about the Spanish-speaking peoples and their customs.

SPANISH CLUB OFFICERS explore Spain via map: President Weston, Stone, McCormick, Wagoner, Guill.

WORLD HISTORY students discover that their wide knowledge comes in handy while studying current events.

BIBLE student displays project from study of "Old Testament,"

HISTORY — what could be more important to the well-informed student of today than a thorough knowledge of history? With the varied courses available to everyone, the history classes had a large and interested enrollment. The mysteries of ancient history were explored. from the evolution of man on down to our modern times.

From Captain John Smith to Teddy Roosevelt, American history students were absorbed in the development of America. Hurriedly jotted notes aided the budding historians in accurate study for Tuesday's test. Every week students devoured the news articles and other features of the American Observer, which furnished them plenty of topics for animated discussions. Courses in geography, economics, and government rounded out the history department's curriculum and enriched the fund of knowledge many students were storing up.

BIBLE — those interested in theology were absorbed during the first semester in studying the Old Testament in Bible classes. At the half-way mark the students continued with the New Testament, thus getting a thorough knowledge of Biblical lore. To start each week with the right perspective, an appropriate devotional was given for the entire student body. The Bible Club formed from GHS's Bible program helped in carrying out an overseas relief program.

The club members' monthly meetings were highlighted by panels, skits, and speakers.

HOME ECONOMICS — with streamlined equipment in the new Home Economics building, GHS girls were able to get more complete courses in future homemaking. Not only did these future homemakers learn to cook for their families, but they also learned the most professional tricks in sewing and tailoring. Home Economics also included a course in Family Life and one in Child Development. Here students learned to get along with friends of their own age. Also they were taught how to prepare for healthy and happy marriages and parenthood. Guest speakers throughout the year told Family Life students about family customs in other countries as well as in our own. By observing the children in the nursery, the students in Child Development got an actual peek into the absorbing behavior of small children. One of the highlights of the Home Economics department this year was the visitation of Governor Hodges.

BEN L. SMITH FTA CLUB—Finture Teachers of America—the very name is significant. These young Americans interested in leading through teaching were inducted into the organization on November sixteenth at the Mayfair Cafeteria. This year, for the first time, membership was exclusive. Each FTA member had to be voted upon, and those that were accepted formed an interested audience at the banquet where Mrs. Wells, State FTA consultant, delivered the keynote speech.

Headquarters for FTA material is located in Miss Causey's room, where pamphlets and magazines are displayed to catch the eye of interested students. When Mr. Routh just can't find any substitute teachers, future teachers rush to his aid. With the addition of the new home economics building and its nursery school, the organization has an on-the-spot observation point for the antics of their future charges.

In state-wide capacity this year the club was far from dormant. Among the enthusiastic delegates sent to the state convention last autumn, Peggy Sink reaped the official title of state FTA Secretary. Skits and discussion groups highlighted the weekend event. Greensboro's chapter gave an entertaining and informative skit about the various fields of teaching and why one would choose these fields. Jerry Mann presided over this year's meetings and was responsible for a series of programs and activities, while Miss Mitchell and Miss Causey watched with approval.

THE WONDERS of everyday things are discovered in chemistry classes.

SCIENCE courses attract some students at Senior, repel others, touch all of them. In biology every sophomore shares the common fate of making a leaf notebook, disecting a frog. Complaints are frequent and heated, but not serious, for next year will find many of the complainers enrolling again, this time in chemistry, physics, radio.

The thrill of actually seeing animals so small that they can be observed only under a microscope is excelled only by that of discovering their interesting life processes. Elements, atomic structures, compounds and valence become commonplace subjects in many conversations. Those learning physics whet their reasoning powers in animated discussions of mass as energy.

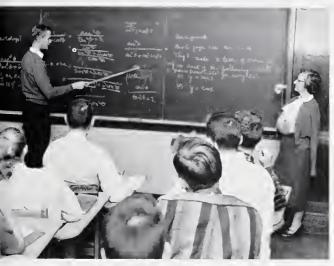

Science Day gave GHS an increased awarcness of the importance of science in our daily living. At an assembly program students gave demonstrations of scientific phenomena. Interest was further increased by an exhibit of projects from all science students at a Science Fair in the gym.

PHYSICS STUDENTS at GHS study everything from thermodynamics to Einstein's theory of relativity.

BIOLOGY study bares the secrets of living things.

TRIG presents its problems; board work helps elear them up.

GEOMETRY-INSPIRED designs are decorative but easy.

MATHEMATICS—Unknowns, radicals, and square roots, quadratic equations, similar triangles, cones and pyramids—each of these has a special meaning for math students. Only one year of math is required for graduation, but many advanced math classes were filled with students obtaining further credit needed to enter colleges. In geometry students who enjoy using their minds mastered propositions and applied them in solving numerical problems. Trigonometry and solid geometry, as well as college algebra, challenged ambitious seniors.

Chapter II — Manual Deftness through Daily Practice

ART classes draw large numbers of students each semester. They attract the ones who enjoy a sunny hour outside the building sketching some natural composition. They draw those who love the magic of transforming the whiteness of a sheet of paper into a pleasing combination of line, form and color. In art classes those who enjoy lettering, weaving, working with clay or copper or leather find a place. And to all of these, study and discussion of the great, in art of every age, brings pleasure.

DRAFTING classes attracted many boys daily to try its gifts of a neater, more orderly approach to everything they tackled. Some of them went on to advanced study, becoming expert in making detail drawings, house plans, blue prints. Day after day their neat lettering and carefully wrought drawings revealed their interest and careful effort.

PRINTING CLASS helps boys learn a practical trade.

SHOPS occupy the first floor of the vocational building. There one could find seventeen types of machinery, all in constant use by two hundred boys who spent one to three hours daily there. In the wood shop, they were sawing, gluing, or finishing their cabinets or tables. In printing they were busy composing or printing many of the record forms used at Senior—report cards, for instance. Students in the machine shop learned useful techniques in metal work of many kinds. Boys in these three shops walked away with most of the prizes in the annual Industrial Arts Fair this year.

COMMERCIAL COURSES—The incessant elicking of typewriters drones on and on as flying fingers practice to achieve perfection in this fundamental course of business education. In the meantime, shorthand students are laboring faithfully to decipher many pages of seemingly meaningless scribbles. Both beginning and advanced shorthand is offered, along with enough other commercial courses to prepare a person on graduating for either a job or an advanced business course. The complexities of finance become familiar to bookkeeping pupils, and various other commercial skills are acquired as Business English and Business Information are studied. Skills are put to practical use in Clerical Practice as students learn to operate a variety of office machines. Through the modern commercial department the value of speed, efficiency and accuracy becomes real to each far-sighted pupil as he prepares for the not-too-distant future.

SHORTHAND'S heiroglyphics challenge students.

ASPIRING TYPISTS work for "sixty words a minute."

an active example of building good citizenship through service. As Mrs. Hadden will proudly tell you, "They're the best!" Converting the dreary old orchestra room into a cheerful, attractive space gave the D.E.'ers perfect headquarters.

These industrious students, who take major school courses in the morning, use their knowledge from D.E. classes to help them become better salesmen in their individual jobs during the afternoon. To help each student become better acquainted with the origin of the product he sells, numerous field trips were taken around Greensboro, some of these being to Carter Fabrics, Kroger Stores, News-Record office, hosiery mills, and bakeries.

Everyone knows what an important role D.E.'ers play in Greensboro, but they have

D.O. OFFICE PRACTICE—Thirty-eight students, all eager to make their mark in the business world, were employed through the D.O. office practice classes this year. Mrs. McEntire checked grades and personality very carefully, so that each boss would be assured of a capable, responsible employee. She studied each prospect, to be sure that the right student got the job suited for her. School courses were chosen to fit in with job needs. Students were given many opportunities to prepare themselves for the business world and for later life. A thorough education was stressed in the classes.

The office practice students were always studying to improve themselves in their bosses' eyes. They wrote themes and made reports. They read booklets such as "Personality and Your Job," "Manners in Business," "What Creates Jobs," and "What Employers Want."

They filled notebooks with articles on individual jobs, studying these for useful hints. The articles, pictures and other information gleaned from newspapers gave every student a better understanding of each job, and, which is important, of the business world in general.

PART THREE - SERVICE

Chapter I - Competent Faculty as Guides and Friends

SUPERINTENDENT B. L. Smith, center, chats with Senior's Principal A. P. Routh and Director of Intsruction P. J. Weaver.

THE SCHOOL BOARD officially presented to Senior High, early last fall, two ultramodern buildings. One was for home economics, the other for vocal and instrumental music. Both buildings, in design, color and equipment, reflect the taste and generosity of the planners.

With new buildings Senior High became more massive and sprawling than ever; but its facilities remained overtaxed. Fortunately, Superintendent Smith and the School Board were already at work on plans and contracts for Page Senior High School, which may give our Senior High a chance to shrink back into proportion in the fall of 1959.

BOARD CHAIRMAN J. R. Foster and son go fishing.

Attorney: Mr. J. C. Cowan, Jr., Dr. W. M. Hampton. Absent: Chairman John R. Foster, Mr. Thornton H. Brooks.

SCHOOL BOARD — Seated: Mr. Howard Holderness, Mrs. Sarah M. Brown, Dr. R. A. Smith, Standing: Mr. P. J. Weaver, Mr. B. L. Smith, Mr. E. F. Moseley,

SENIOR HIGH'S PRINCIPAL, Mr. A. P. Routh, began this year, as always, far ahead of Registration Day on September 3. Getting sophomores registered had been a last spring chore; and all summer long Mr. Routh worked at making a schedule for 85 teachers and over 1,700 students to fit into when school opened, at finding more home room space where there was none, at helping to choose new teachers, and at a myriad other jobs.

When school opened he had somehow found a location for 54 home rooms and the largest enrollment Senior has ever had. Study halls had become classrooms; new buildings, though not quite ready, soon helped to absorb a few of the overflowing groups.

As 1956 president of the North Carolina Principals Association, Mr. Routh had the mammoth responsibility of holding the state meeting at Senior High last fall. Luncheons, dinners, meeting places and many other arrangements under his supervision helped make the meeting a highly successful one.

MR. A. P. ROUTH is Senior's popular principal.

NEW STUDENTS are enrolled through the office of Mr. Routh and his efficient secretary, Mrs. Jessie Coltrane.

FAMILIAR FACES to all at GHS are Dean of Students Mrs. Nellie D. Blackburn, Assistant Principal Mr. Robert L. Glenn,

MR. GLENN AND MRS. BLACKBURN gave Mr. Routh the kind of help he could hardly do without in running a sprawling giant like Senior High. Mr. Glenn, as Assistant Principal, had to be everywhere all the time, with many problems to solve, the book room, cafeteria and buses to supervise, even some classes to teach. Mrs. Blackburn had the thankless task of checking on attendance every morning and making decisions about what to excuse, who descreed a sick slip, and what should be the next assembly program. To both of these tireless and understanding people came constant interruptions and frequent calls for advice. They kept many wheels turning smoothly.

FACULTY MEMBERS, numbering this year over eighty, chose officers and met occasionally as a faculty club. They outgrew room 106 as a meeting place and graduated to larger and more attractive rooms in the new buildings.

Most of their meetings were "strictly business"—well, almost—but sometimes refreshments served by the home economics department or the school store gave an excuse for a brief social period. Sometimes, too, as during exams, they had doughnuts and coffee in the office—a rare opportunity for a tiny visit and a pause for refreshment.

Senior's teachers have played basketball and acted as cheerleaders. They have helped to plan and produce impressive pageants and other programs. They have been tireless advisers and ardent supporters of all school activities. They have prided themselves upon being progressive people, and up-to-date. Many have traveled widely and studied continually. Many have developed talents and pursued hobbies.

As a year-end climax to the pleasant studentfaculty relationship at Senior the teachers honored the graduating seniors with a tea in the Alumnae House at Woman's College.

The PTSA supplied chaperones for open houses, helped the Whirligig and Youth Recreation Council financially, and provided funds for lunchtime recreation.

Chapter II - Student Leaders Chosen to Guide Us

STUDENT COUNCIL—One of the council's chief aims is to train GHS students for active citizenship tomorrow by helping them to be good citizens now. By planning and sponsoring several projects this year, they worked at realizing this goal. To begin, they welcomed new sophomores and acted as guides and helpers in the process of orientation that made sophomores feel at home here. During registration they were very helpful in many ways, serving as guides, running errands, and helping in the office.

Next they supervised the sophomore elections, helping with the presentation of candidates, making arrangements for voting, serving at the polls. Careers Day was one of the council's most useful projects. The members worked for weeks on arrangements and writing invitations to business and professional people. Every student had two opportunities to listen to these career experts and ask questions.

When time for the last football game arrived, we realized that it was Homecoming time. The council had planned exciting events for this year's reunion, with fireworks, a show by the band and glee clubs, and a parade. They chose Nancy Lambeth as council sponsor; and Bill O'Brien served as escort for the Queen, Libby Garvin, who had been chosen by the football team.

Every two weeks council members made reports to home rooms and listened to questions and suggestions, which they would act upon at their next meeting. To supplement these reports, Bill O'Brien wrote a "Council Corner" regularly for High Life.

To give students insight into the technicalities of running a student government, the council gave an assembly program. A mock council meeting was carried on, while a narrator explained how this body functions in our school life.

YOUTH RECREATION COMMITTEE was a new organization this year. Its chairman Libby Garvin, became a member of the student council. The Recreation Department and the PTSA sponsored the group, furnishing ideas, supervision, and funds. Open house was held after each football and basketball game. Highlights were "Twerp Night"; the Sock Hop. in honor of homecoming; and the Spring Fling. After-school recreation, bridge and dancing lessons, and charm classes were other popular projects of the committee. They placed a juke box in the girls' gym for lunchtime and afterschool dancing. Other projects were the elections in the spring and fall, the writing of the by-laws and also the beginning of a scrapbook. This year the Youth Recreation Committee have had to use facilities in the boys' and girls' gyms, but they have fond hopes of a recreation center as a future home.

LEADERS OF TRAFFIC SQUAD are Adviser Mr. Darnell, Chief Baynes, Assistants Eldridge and Little.

TRAFFIC SQUAD, whose chief is a member of the student council, is Senior's student police force. They try hard to insure the safety of all of us as we move about the walks and corridors. They do some urging when students seem reluctant to move on to that next period test. They issue a mild warning when others would go too fast or off at a tangent. They keep over 1,800 students and teachers using the right doors and observing "up" and "down" rules on stairs. Early this year the squad helped prevent confusion in the new parking lot by directing orderly parking. Other duties they seem to acquire each year are walking girls to classes and keeping radiators warm. The two new buildings and largest enrollment of all time at Senior High gave the squad its most strenuous vear.

TORCHLIGHT—Planning tappings and the parties for new members, as well as helping to earry out the College Day program, kept Torchlight members and their new adviser, Mrs. Mary Madlin, constantly busy this year.

There were two impressive tappings this year, one in the fall and one in the spring. To create an air of mystery the exact dates were kept secret until the actual day. At the fall tapping, seventeen new members were inducted by the eight members selected as juniors last year. The spring tapping extended eligibility to juniors in addition to more seniors.

The candlelight services were held in the darkened auditorium. Hushed excitement and suspense prevailed as the white-robed figures moved in and out among the rows of students. A hand placed firmly upon a shoulder signified the reward of a hard worker for his effort and achievement.

TORCHLIGHT OFFICERS are, first row. President Ogburn, Secretary Lambeth. Second row: Serapbook Chairman Frank, Vice-President Craig, and Treasurer Aderhold.

MOMENT of meditation precedes gravity of tapping ceremony.

Early in the second semester last year, Torchlight held try-outs for its annual Talent Show. Tickets were sold to the student body, and the show was a real success. At the end of the program Jimmy Lott was chosen winner by the guest judges. The proceeds of the ticket sale went into the making of a scholarship for a worthy senior, one not a member of Torchlight. Last spring Jim Martin was the lucky recipient.

The chapter of Torchlight was represented at the state convention from which Lisa, Eve, Jean, Karl, and Miss Mims brought back news of activities carried on by fellow chapters in other towns. At the convention in Salisbury the delegates took part in discussions, heard addresses, and elected state officers.

The four chief goals of Torchlight are sometimes supplemented by just plain fun. An informal party, with sledding on the ice around president Jean Ogburn's home, gave a lift during the ordeal of mid-term exams. AFTER BEING "TAPPED" by Buck Hoyle, Tom Hudgins follows gravely toward the stage, where he will be formally inducted into Torchlight.

HIGH LIFE staff members perform their work in two-week cycles. Led by their editor Elwood Hartman, they come in on Monday mornings, ready for work. The first thing on the agenda is discussing the issue just published and distributed on the previous Friday. "What happened to that article I sat up till twelve writing?" comes in a plaintive tone. "My picture wasn't clear," a photographer complains. "What did the engravers do to it?"

Then it's time for Frances to assign the news articles, with everyone trying to dodge the "honor roll" because of all the names. Pictures have to be planned, now, too.

Tuesday and Wednesday are spent writing stories, counting lines, continually using Thesaurus and performing all the labors of journalists everywhere. The photographers are out trying to get pictures. In their little spare time the staff tries to think of a good lead story, and Betty Rose is looking for a feature article.

Thursday and Friday the staff is still writing copy and "sweating" over sentence construction and grammar. They are struggling with headlines, and pictures are still being made.

Friday is the day when they have a supperless night. Everyone brings his snack and munches as he works. The make-up is planned during this session. Around ten o'clock the staff may be seen locking the doors and groping in the dark to Miss Joyner's car, relieved that the copy is ready to go to the printer on Saturday morning.

Blue Monday shows the High Life staff still busily writing stories and counting heads. It's on Monday also that the pictures are cropped and sent to the engravers.

"Oh, oh! What, again? The 'Daily Doubles' have broken up!" And to the printers they rush to try to prevent the tragedy of showing daily doubles who aren't doubles anymore.

Tuesday the proof comes back and the staff spends the day and half the night checking the proof. "Any mistakes in there now will just have to be," comments one staff member—but speaking for all. The fresh, new High Life

WHIRLIGIG - "Big things come in little packages." This old saying finds application in the birth of our 1957 Whirligig, for into this silver-touched volume are condensed the activities of GHS students from last September to June. "Big" also describes the task of preparing a yearbook for printing. Day after day found Maranell and Carolyn pacing city streets. all attempts to turn other staff members into ad and sponsorship salesmen having failed. Increased enrollment brought new faces for class editors Ann, Mary Pat, Peggy, Nancy, Carolyn and Susan to identify, and provided John, Angelyn and Katherine with an endless supply of pictures to mount on their confused panels. "Anybody know who this is?" was Janice's eoustant question, and Charles' numerous drawings kept him going in circles. Photography editors Kay and Judy kept Kay Wood supplied with pictures to crop, while efforts to write captions for them had Jane and Diana chewing their pencils. Susan kept Pat supplied with copy to type; and, always on hand to offer us a needed

QUILL AND SCROLL, Senior's literary honor society, boasts a membership of budding young writers. Affiliated with the national society, it is always a small group, because of the honor attached to being selected. The members are chosen on the basis of at least a 90 average and their active work on the staff of Whirligig or High Life. In addition, an example of their writing is judged by a faculty committee. The main goal during the year was the publishing of Senior's literary magazine, Homespun. The contents of the booklet are short stories, essays, themes, and poems contributed by students. Another of this year's projects was giving a savings bond to a student who showed outstanding promise as a future writer.

MARSHALS guided us to the best in entertainment at Senior High all through the year. These thirty-two juniors, two from each home room, gave out programs and ushered at all major school and civic functions in our auditorium. Chief marshal Jim McGregor was assisted by Lynn McGregor and Allan Andrews; Miss Peggy Joyner and Miss Alice Griffin were always on hand to advise and help get ribbons adjusted and programs ready to distribute. Through their courteous directions and pleasant smiles, this year's marshals helped win friends for Senior High.

THE LIBRARY COUNCIL was made up of students who worked in the library one period a day. Most of them were seniors and juniors, though a few sophomores who could spare the time also helped with the dozens of duties they were responsible for. The council had a weekly meeting, at which programs were given by staff members.

All members of the Senior High School Library Council were eligible for membership in the state organization for high school library stantly busy. They checked books out or back in and kept the shelves in good order. They went promptly to find magazines for term-paper writers slaving over the Reader's Guide. They helped find other elusive reference materials for puzzled sophomores working on a special report. They patiently put back in order the stacks of pamphlets and clippings taken from the Career files. They learned from Miss Herring and her assistant librarians many of the techniques of a librarian.

The drivers met in their own home room each day at school, and monthly for a dinner meet-

Spring brought the annual bus rodeo, an event in which every driver eagerly took part. Even with greater responsibility than ever before, the boys closed the year with another excellent safety record. According to the Wheel Club much of the credit for this record goes to "Coach" Lody Glenn, who is their new adviser.

Mr. Glenn sees that the boys keep eareful records of books and stay on hand for occasional ealls for supplementary books between the floods.

PART FOUR - ARTS

Chapter I - Dramatics - to Train and Entertain

COSTUME COMMITTEE members work industriously, bringing realism to characters in "Pride and Prejudice."

PLAYMASTERS—Members of Playmasters were busily engrossed in rehearsals for their full-length fall production, "Pride and Prejudice," before other school activities were well under way. While the cast practiced, the behind-the-scenes crews delved into the multitude of chores necessary to produce a play. There was new scenery to construct and paint, new costumes to design and scw. and make-up techniques to be mastered by the new make-up artists. Opening night was on November 8, 1956, and the play was a great success!

Almost immediately, members of Playmasters began to work on some phase of the Christmas pageant, using not only their acting and speaking abilities, but also their costuming and make-up know-how.

In preparation for writing original plays, dramatics students read and reported on more than four hundred dramas. After studying methods and techniques used by professional authors, they wrote their own plays, which were presented to the dramatics classes and to the playwriting class at Woman's College. Students at Woman's College judged the plays for writing ability and for production adaptability; the best ones were selected and recorded for future use by the dramatics class.

In the spring Playmasters turned their attention to district and state contests. The one-act plays submitted this year were "The Gypsy," "The Running Tide," "The Last Curtain," and "Nobody Sleeps," the sophomore drama. All four of these plays were presented at Senior High School on March 14, and then they went to the district contest. Winners from the district contest went on to the state contest at Chapel Hill.

Another big project for the Playmasters this spring was the production of their second full length drama—also a hit.

PLAYMASTERS ELECTED these officers for the year, First row: Business Manager Matherly, President Merriman. Second row: Secretary Young, Vice-President White.

The Playmasters did many things besides the actual presentation of glamorous plays. They went through the drudgery of cataloguing costumes and keeping them in good condition at all times. They had to keep abreast of happenings in the theatrical world and study about famous thespians and playwrights. All of the dramatics class members were encouraged to enter many speech and essay contests throughout the school year.

WRITING a play is an enlightening chore for drama students.

Chapter II - Singers Practicing and Performing

CHOIR—After many weeks of hair-pulling and threats of drowning parties, "Tuttle" finally had the Choir prepared for their first performance for the United Fund Kickoff Program early in October. She was well rewarded for her efforts by a big kiss from guest comedian Sam Levenson.

The most important performance of the first semester was the Choir Show, given with the Orchestra. Leon Boggs, last year's president, was on hand to give everybody a big send-off with a rousing chorus of "I've Been Working

First on the list for second semester was the Band-Choir Show. Programs for the Jefferson Club, Rotary Sweetheart Night, Kiwanis Club, Greensboro College, and other organizations complemented regular work and kept the Choir on their toes all year, learning new music and striving for the never-acquired perfection.

The honored seniors were kept busy in their spare time learning music for the spring Festival, directed by the beloved Dr. Hoggard. Then solemnly one day in May they lifted their voices, for the last time together, in the Alma Mater.

Chapter III — Musicians Traveling and Tuning Up

THE MARCHING BAND was colorful and popular at all home football games. At Homecoming they shared spotlight and acclaim with glee clubs and choir, presenting a program that made chilled spectators ignore a frosty wind.

THRILLING TRIPS brought them national approval this year. One early morning in June, 1956, they drew crowds of sleepy well-wishers to wave them off to Miami, where they were to perform for the Lions International Convention.

"THE KING AND I" music warms cold listeners as choral groups and band combine for Homecoming halftime.

IN WASHINGTON, the Senior High Marching Band delighted Redskins fans with a colorful halftime show.

IN MIAMI they marched down Biscayne Boulcvard with their usual flair, put on a flashy performance in the Orange Bowl. There were moonlight cruises, midnight swims, 2:00 a.m. curfews, alligators in bathtubs. Most thrilling of all was a chartered flight to Nassau for forty musicians and chaperones. The fascination of narrow streets, quaint shops, open straw markets and the white sands of the beach made a permanent impression.

WASHINGTON beckoned one November weekend. The band had been invited to play at the Redskins-Detroit game, with the halftime show to be televised for a national audience. Weeks of rehearsing marching figures and practicing edge and culture. Attention from all sides made the weekend just "the most."

A NEW MUSIC BUILDING brought the band and its directors the greatest satisfaction this year. The color, arrangement, air-cooling system, and equipment made this the most modern of music buildings; and band members almost burst their buttons off with pride.

AN ANNIVERSARY SURPRISE for Mr. Hazelman was arranged by Mr. Arner and the concert band on a November night, when the public had come to hear the band and then to inspect the new building. During the concert, at a moment when the musicians remained silent on a determined downbeat—a nightmare moment for Mr. Hazelman—out came Mr. Arner with a bronze plaque paying tribute to Mr. Hazelman's twenty years of service at Senior. He also read from a few of the dozens of telegrams that had arrived from former band members and other friends scattered everywhere. After the concert the music building swarmed with people who came to congratulate Mr. Hazelman and to see the new home of the music groups. It was a gala night.

THE CONCERT BAND, directed by Mr. Hazelman and Mr. Arner, has a brilliant and varied repertoire, ranging from the "1812 Overture" to "My Fair Lady." This band, along with the training band, which is directed by Mr. Still and Mr. Toenes, gave several concerts this year. They sponsored a concert by the Navy Band to help pay for the trip to Washington. As the EUTERPE SYMPHONIA met monthly to enjoy the music of great composers. This select group, comprised of juniors and seniors, are earnest music students of Senior Euterpe members. They are chosen for this organization because of their outstanding ability and love for music. This year the group had a new adviser, Mrs. Clyde Ritch, who is also a member of Senior Euterpe. Euterpe Symphonia is a branch of the National Federation of Music Clubs, whose members pledge to study, love, and appreciate good music. An unusual Christmas meeting was held at the home of Nancy Hewett. At this party Nancy played several selections on the organ while Peggy Sink played the piano. The members enjoyed hearing and singing the familiar carols. Among the many outstanding projects of this organization was their contribution to the Crosley Adams Memorial and the McDowell Colony.

ORCHESTRA members gazed with satisfaction on their quarters in the streamlined new music building, as they transported their equipment and stored it away. Then they set to work practicing for their first concert. They played first for Euterpe Symphonia, partly in gratitude for that organization's efforts to raise funds for the orchestra's trip to St. Louis last April. The orchestra had gone to play before the National Music Educators, and that proud moment, plus other concerts, informal jazz sessions, and sight-seeing, kept them busy and happy there.

No breathing spell awaited them on their return, for that night they played in the state contest. Though travel-worn, they performed well enough for another superior rating.

After their opening concert, they spent the fall getting ready for the choir-orchestra show in December and the Christmas Pageant. Immediately after Christmas, preparations for the coming All-State Orchestra visit began to occupy them full-time. Finding rooms for the visitors and daily rehearsals of the twenty-six members who had been selected to play with the all-state group kept them busy.

When the other musicians arrived, they went immediately into two days of strenuous but rewarding rehearsals. The orchestra was conducted by Henry Janiec, of Converse College, who said after the brilliant concert on Sunday afternoon that "they were simply wonderful."

During the year the orchestra gave two assembly programs, furnished ensembles for other programs and the faculty-senior tea. High spot during the spring was their appearance in the state contest and the resulting top rating.

BARONS, though less than two years old, are full of talent and experience. No matter what kind of music you prefer, they can deliver it by request. They started as a trio (Ranny, David, and Jerry), grew up to present size in September. 1955. Ranny Dodson and his popular group, handsome in their plaid jackets and cummerbunds, have been in constant demand at open houses and many formal dances all year. Their popularity was solid after their assembly program in February.

Chapter I - Whirlies Sharing State Championship

1956 FOOTBALL TEAM — First row: McGraw, Hobbs, Brown, Neese, Kitzmiller, Albaugh, Rogers, Varsamis, Geiger, D. Jones, Godfrey. Second row: Taborn, Morgan, Forlines, Murphy, Spaulding, McNairy, Reeves, WHIRLIE FOOTBALL TEAM, two-deep in lettermen at every position, opened an exciting and successful season with a game at Raleigh.

TOTAL TEAM SUPPORT is essential in any vietory,

It was a seoreless tie that gave both teams a ehance to get experience before plunging into eonference play.

DURHAM came for the second game on the schedule, also non-conference. This game drew the largest crowd in Whirlie history—8.000—and gave to all their money's worth in thrills. Durham's vaunted passing attack eaused Greensboro plenty of worry, but the Whirlies put the Bulldogs out of the running early in the final quarter. The three Greensboro touchdowns came after long drives, demonstrating the strength of the Whirlie line. Geiger, Rogers, and Hobbs did most of the ball-earrying; touchdowns were scored by Brown, Wrenn, and Parrish.

CHARLOTTE invaded the Whirlie stronghold for the first conference game. But the Whirlies, with their strong defense to match the line, were ready for the dangerous halfback Freeman and team. And stop the Charlotte "dane-ing back" they did, though Wrenn and Gill sat out much of the game with injuries. The Whirlies held Charlotte to no score, running up 19 points against them.

GASTONIA gave the Whirlies another victory there, and a chance to show the high quality of the running and blocking our team was capable of. Two Greensboro TD's came on 79-and 94-yard runs, two on drives. The line provided holes and the backs just sailed through. Gill turned in a top performance. McNairy and Giles also did well. In fact, the entire team played its best game of the season.

ASHEVILLE'S MAROONS, playing there, were trailing 14-0 at halftime, but rallied furiously in the final quarters to tie the Whirlies in the rain. Hobbs and Singletary each scored a touchdown—Hobbs with a 97-yard puntreturn. Singletary after a 65-yard drive.

WINSTON-SALEM REYNOLDS, meeting the Whirlies here before a chilled crowd on "stock-retirement" night, scored only once. Gill seemed to be everywhere on defense. Singletary dived over from two yards out to end a 24-yard drive. Wrenn made the second TD in the last seconds before halftime. In the third period Rogers scored on a 19-yard dash, later almost scored again when he returned a kick-off 64 yards.

DANVILLE came here to play a non-conference game, went home the loser, 49-0. After Single-tary and Neese scored a TD apiece, Coach Jamieson put in the juniors. Hobbs and Albaugh scored before the half. In the last half, Kitzmiller, with two TD's, Stanley with a safety, and Davis with a TD ran the score on up.

SALISBURY came to Greensboro to play and soon had the Whirlies in a jam on their own 8. McNairy broke through for a run to the 32. A little later, climaxing a 39-yard drive, Neese went over to score. When the Jackets scored in the second half, the 7-6 count put Greensboro behind for the first time this year. This seemed to fire the Whirlies, for they began a march of 68 yards to score again on a plunge by Brown. Wrenn replaced Singletary at quarterback in this game.

SALISBURY player's short gain is ended by McNairy.

BOB BROWN takes advantage of a gaping hole opened by his teammates as he scores against Salisbury.

HIGH POINT, host to Greensboro, put up a terrific struggle, holding the Whirlies to 12-6. It was close, with Greensboro seldom able to launch its destructive running attack. For thrills there was an electrifying 65-yard run by Neese in the second quarter; a drive for 88 yards in the third and fourth periods, ending with a TD by Gill.

BURLINGTON came here for the last conference game and was romped over by the Whirlies for a 26-0 victory and top place in the Western AAA Conference for Greensboro. Hobbs scored first on a beautiful 70-yard run. Then Rogers added another TD by racing 72 yards; and Gill, on a pass from Singletary, ran over for the third TD in the first half. On the secondhalf kickoff the Whirlies began a 64-yard march for the fourth TD, carried over by Geiger.

SINGLETARY carns six points for GHS against Reynolds.

BROWN scores as Charlotte Central players interfere too late.

M. Wachter, Hinshaw. Third row: Waldron, Hattaway, Ritchie, Caldwell, Morton, Johnson, Evans, Sheffield, Morgan, Lee, Albert, Price, Pope. These boys went through the 1956 season undefeated.

THE STATE AAA TITLE was won jointly by Greensboro and Fayetteville in a hard-fought game there on November 16. Greensboro dominated the statistics, but the 6-6 tie made the teams co-champions. Geiger's lone touchdown gave Greensboro the six points.

COACHES who direct Senior High's athletics are Earey, Manzi, Bondanella, Smith, Director of Athletics Jamieson.

STANDOUTS on this year's team were numerous. Brown and Neese with 25 each and Singletary with 24 points led in scoring. Wrenn, Rogers, Hobbs and Gill each made 18 points. McNairy kicked 12 extra points. Thirty of the TD's were scored on drives of 65 yards or better, emphasizing the speed and deception of the Whirlies. The Whirlies ran up 198 points against 42 for their ten opponents.

THE JUNIOR VARSITY TEAM finished a good season this year, with a total of seven victories and no losses. There were forty players, generally, on the JV team, with several players moving up to the varsity as the season progressed and they gained experience. Coach Julian Smith mentioned the backs and guards as outstanding, with the center section of the line shining also. Guards Barton, Pemberton. Penfield, and Price led the line in play. In the backfield Harraway, Kennon, Morgan, Squires, Stout. Swofford, and Wachter stood out. Johnston, Lee. Ritchie, and Strange did well at tackle; Evans and Haithcock, at center, and Waldron, at end, saw much action.

Chapter II - Winter - Weather Cold, Spirit Warm

ALBRIGHT AND ANDERSON keep a Salisbury player from scoring.

THE BASKETBALL TEAM had a hectic year, from the first game, when Raleigh edged the Whirlies by one point, to the tie with Salisbury for Western AAA first place for the season.

MANAGER Raymond Spaulding (right) and assistant manager Chuck Wrye keep team equipment in tip-top shape.

The Whirlies had played six games, losing only that opener with Raleigh, when their regular season began in Asheville on January 4. They met Asheville ready for another victory, and the game was ours, 57-49. It marked the beginning of a list of victories only twice interrupted before the season's close. Both times, Salisbury's Yellow Jackets overcame the Whirlies by one point, in games so close that spectators ended the evening exhausted too.

Every game furnished plenty of thrills; many of them were too close for relaxed watching. But the Whirlies managed, often with apparent ease, to keep the rest of them in the win column.

The Whirlies ran up a total of 1,243 points (422 field goals, 399 free shots) during the regular season. Doug Albright dominated the scoring, accounting for 268 points; Larry Gill was second with 235. The three other starters made around 150 each—James Spence, 159; Dave Albaugh, 155; and Bradley Anderson, 132.

SPENCE is held down by Raleigh's rough tactics.

CANNON drives hard for Whirlies against Whipnets.

ALBRIGHT is determined to keep High Point players from seoring. Spence and Gill are ready to help him.

THE AAA TOURNAMENT was played in our gym again this year. After losing to Salisbury in a draw for first place, Greensboro played Wilmington on the opening night. It was a thriller, but went to Wilmington. The next day the Whirlies beat Raleigh in a consolation game.

WHIRLIE JV's, coached by Julian Smith, had a perfect season, winning all 17 games played. Juniors who played well all season were Larry Crayton, Spencer Gaylord, Eddy Hines, Buddy Rives, David Spaulding. Sophomore standouts were Tommy Edwards and Larry Hudson.

LINEWEAVER adds two more points against Charlotte Central.

nam, Winfree, Ledford. Third row: Schiffman, Willett, Steed, Scrnggs, Stont.

1956 SWIMMING TEAM wrapped up an undefeated season and came out of it with the state title. Bob Hubner, Sidney Oliver, John Burwell, and Ranny Dodson achieved recognition. In addition to the state meet, Coach Earey's swimmers won the Southeastern Invitational meet in Atlanta, the Duke University Invitational meet, Southern Championship meet at Chapel Hill, and ECC Invitational Championship meet. THE 1957 TEAM had the same stars, plus a year's experience. By February, Dodson had twice broken the national high school record for the 100-yard butterfly, winning in 0:59.6; Nance had broken his own state record for the 200-yard freestyle; and the relay team of Dodson, Hubner, Burwell and Nance had set a national record for the 240-yard medley. When they went to Atlanta in February for the Southeastern Invitational meet, the team had already won four of five meets they had entered in the state, coming out second in one. In Atlanta they also won, setting new meet records. Dodson, with his 100-yard butterfly, Nance with 200-yard freestyle and 150-yard individual medley and Burwell in 100-yard freestyle all swam in all-American time. The team set a new 100-yard freestyle relay record for the meet.

THE 1956 WRESTLING TEAM went serenely through an undefeated season, with only a tie with Goldsboro to mildly mar their record. Senior High students supported their team enthusiastically and were rewarded by a team that consistently won honors. Coach Lody Glenn's matmen wrestled against eight teams in eleven matches and piled up 334 points against their opponent's 81. Stars on the team were heavyweight Bert Wilder, Charlie Whedbee, Benny McKee, and David Levy. At times, Bright, Carter, and Daktor came through with winning performances and helpful points.

The state wrestling tournament, held at Senior High, turned out to be full of thrills. Four of the team—Wilder, Bright, Whedbee, and McKee—won individual championships and helped Greensboro pile up the points that won the state title. The Whirlies defeated Boone 103-102 to take the final match on March 3.

The 1957 team, coached by Mr. Claud Manzi and with seven victories behind it at press-time, looks good enough to win the state title again this year.

Chapter III — Spring Athletes Winning in the Sun

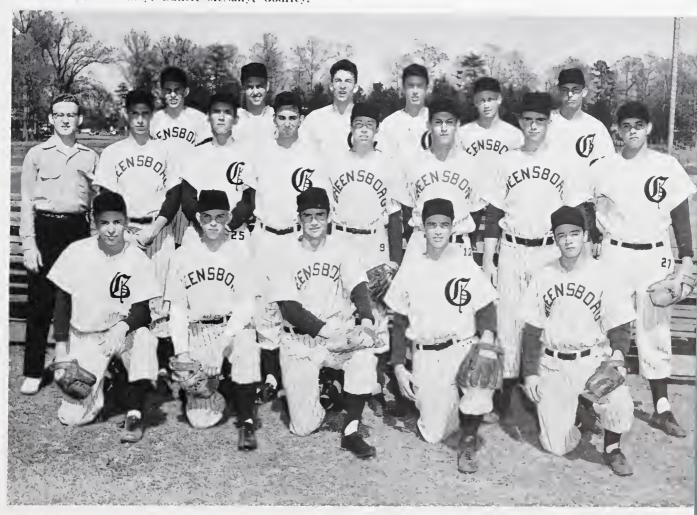

THE 1956 BASEBALL TEAM ran up a fair record of six victories, seven losses. The team started off with plenty of steam, defeating Cranbrook, Michigan, 3-0, and Charlotte Central, 5-0. "Woody" Carruthers pitched the team to victory in both games, the second a brilliant no-hitter.

CATCHER Johnson and pitchers Carruthers and Gill cook up strategy that bodes ill for Whirlic opponents.

1956 BASEBALL TEAM—First row: Taylor, Brame, Sams, McKee, Shelton. Second row: Heffner, Rives, Prnitt, Oates, Abernathy, Butler, McNairy, Godfrey.

Last row: Gaylord, Rainey, Johnson, Gill, Schlosser, Mock.

EVERY WHIRLIE PRACTICE has its pepper game.

PLAYERS and Coach Smith are not depressed by ill luck

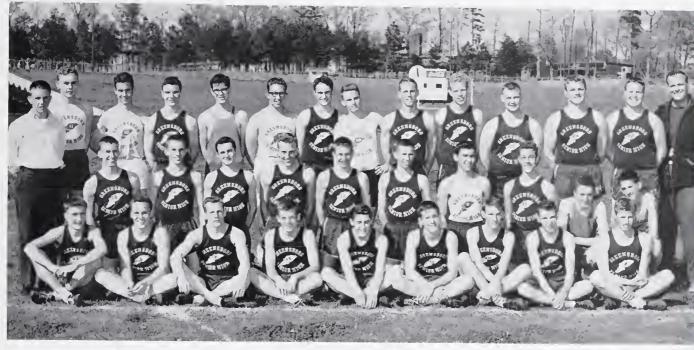

Then followed a disheartening losing streak, with games lost because of the inexperience of players in key spots. After losing five games in a row, the Whirlies got back on the victory train by outlasting Burlington 2-1 in a home game, and then by beating Charlotte Central and Gastonia. After one more loss—to Salisbury—the Whirlies took the final game with High Point by 7-2. This gave Greensboro the fourth position in the conference.

At press-time for this Whirligig, several boys show promise of a good season. Owen Johnson is a good catcher, and with J. C. Rainey to back him up, catching should be a cinch this year. Pitching in 1957 will be in the deft hands of Larry Gill, Larry Crayton, and Linwood Oates. Vying for various posts in the infield are Bill Mock, Spencer Gaylord, Benny Abernathy, Steve Schlosser, and Benny McKee. Outfielders trying out for posts on the 1957 team are Bill Godfrey, Harold Wrenn, and Barry Morgan. By comparison with the 1956 team, the 1957 group, though made up of the same boys, should win far better than a fourth place.

THE 1956 TRACK TEAM was high in spirit and ability, but handicapped by the lack of a suitable cinder track. Coach Lody Glenn stated that running on the grass around the stadium slowed the boys down by about two seconds. At that time he looked forward to a new track by this year; but at press-time the track is still not a reality, though still projected.

GREAT SPEED is displayed by Larry Rogers, as the 1956 track team runs through a strenuous workout.

1956 TRACK TEAM—Seated: Albangh, Brown, Neese, Wible, Kitzmiller, Wrye, Strange, Smith, Rogers, Kueeling: Grant, Davis, Sain, Everett, Holt, Lowry, Permar, Crothers, Idol, Ebert. Standing: Manager

Hewett, Moore, Bradham, Geiger, Ferrell, Massell, Taborn, Williams, Glascock, Schenck, Barringer, Wilder, Donohoe, Coach Lody Glenu.

In 1956 Coach Glenn had ten veterans and a large number of inexperienced hopefuls. Among these best returnecs were Larry Rogers and Bobby Brown, good at the 100-yard and 220-yard dash, respectively. Starter for the 440-yard dash was John Davis; for the halfmile, Paul Dyson. In throwing and other field events. Bert Wilder stood out; while Lou Glascock and Ed Schenck distinguished themselves at the hurdles. In fact, Glascock was sensational all season, had broken a state record before the season ended.

As we go to press, we find that Mr. Claud Manzi will coach the 1957 team, and that these seven veterans will probably lead the team in winning points this year: Brown, Davis, Rogers, Wilder, Lofus Neese, Boyce Crothers, and Jim Geiger. THE 1956 GOLF TEAM had a so-so season, establishing a record of five victories and four losses. The team had nine matches against five opponents, then entered the state tournament and came out of this event with a second place in the state.

ANDERSON demonstrates the art of blasting out of a trap.

1956 GOLF TEAM—Seated: Buchanan, Sockwell, Watkins, Anderson. Standing: Lineweaver, McGraw, Glascock, Murphy.

Bradley Anderson, Buddy Watkins, and George Murphy shared the spotlight during the 1956 season. They played consistently good golf, and it was Buddy Watkins who won second place for GHS in the state tournament. George Murphy came out fifth in that event.

Most of the 1956 golfers were sophomores or juniors, so that with their valuable experience in last year's matches, the 1957 team should end the season with a far better record. Coach Bob Jamieson says, as this Whirligig goes to press, that he expects top performances from Anderson, Murphy, and Tommy Glascoek.

THE 1956 TENNIS TEAM, coached by Mr. Sam Shugart, went through an excellent season, undefeated in conference matches, and losing only to the powerful University of North Carolina freshman team. Later, in a return match, the Whirlies defeated this team, as well as a strong freshman team from Duke University.

DOUG ORR returns a ball in Whirlie practice.

James Spence, Phil Causey, Gene and Sam LeBauer.

The 1957 team should continue the winning streak, for the veterans who are back this year are more adept than ever. Orr, Spence and Causey are all sure to get a place among the first six. Rick Aderhold and Chip Durham also look good. Vying for the remaining spot in the first six will probably be Al Hattaway and Jimmy Eskridge.

In 1957, for the first time, the local team

Ending the 1956 season, the termis team had won 38 games in a row against regular opponents. Outstanding player for GHS was Bose Ravenel, consistently good in both singles and doubles play. Also outstanding were Doug Orr, will play the Myers Park team during the season. Previously these two arch rivals have met only in state tournaments. With their added experience this year's Whirlies team should have an exceptionally good season.

Chapter IV — Gym-centered Intramurals and Phys. Ed.

INTRAMURAL tag football is popular with boys at Senior.

INTRAMURALS drew large numbers of enthusiastic athletes, many of whom had no other contact with the GHS physical education program. In the fall they eagerly rounded up their friends for tag football and made the empty stadium echo with shouts of victory or plain good spirits. In the winter there were wrestling matches and basketball games. As spring came, softball replaced the other sports.

The intramural program, directed by Mr. Pat Earey, paralleled the regular physical education courses. However, these classes in addition to organized sports, included health instruction, table tennis and tumbling.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION, under adequate supervision, provides healthful training and fun for many students.

SPEEDBALL appeals to Senior's energetic girl athletes.

GIRLS' PHYSICAL EDUCATION classes attracted about 150 girls a semester, all of them interested in what such classes had to offer in pleasure as well as good health. They enjoyed the games, the folk dancing, the play days, even first aid and health lessons. Most of all they enjoyed the friendships they formed with other girls and the fun of daily contact. No phys. ed. period was ever dull. Anything might happen, and often did—judging by such queries as these: "Why does that bell ring earlier every day?" "Where's my shoe?" "Hey, who threw my skirt in the shower? It's soaked!"

The Athletic Council was composed of officers of the Girls' Athletic Association, a branch of the state organization. These jills-of-all-sports planned the activities of the association, from play days to money-raising projects.

They sponsored a junior high school volley ball play day, with senior girls acting as referees. To pay for basketball uniforms they held a sale of monogrammed sweat shirts.

Mrs. Eleanor Lambert, the new phys. ed. instructor, had all of the classes busy improving posture and building grace with modern. folk, and social dancing. In season there was plenty of vigorous speedball, volley ball, and basketball. As this book goes to press, the girls' basketball team has won five of six games they have played so far; and the girls are beginning to look forward to the spring AAA Play Day, which they won last year for the first time. In that event Senior High girls won enough points in the softball games, track competition, and tennis matches to defeat High Point, which had won the Play Day for three years in a row.

As the 1957 spring sports—with softball, tennis, and golf all supported enthusiastically—get underway, the possibility of another AAA Play Day victory for GHS girls turns to probability.

GIRLS' SWIMMING TEAM, Coach Jamieson's mermaids, won the six state meets they entered from March, 1956, to February 15, 1957, and two regional meets. Last March they won the first Greensboro open indoor meet. Also in March they won the Southeastern AAU meet in Knoxville. There Betsy Glynn set a national 100-yard freestyle record, the relay team a national 200-yard medley record. Last summer they won the state AAU meet for the sixth straight time and five other state meets. This February they went to Atlanta for the Southeastern Invitational High School Championship meet, and for the second straight year both boys' and girls' teams from GHS brought home top trophies from that meet.

GIRLS' SWIMMING TEAM have set records on several levels. The members are, first row, Ferrell, Brown, Starling, Bourne, Cone, and Remmey. Second row: Gill, Davis, Weaver, Coehran, Glynn, and Taliaferro.

FANS — "Come on, Whirlies! Make that goal!" The stands were jammed to the brim, a jumble of confusion and noise, as ardent fans packed in, and joined the gang to root the Whirlies on to another victory.

PEP RALLIES precede home games, build victory spirit.

FANS bolster Whirlie spirit with voice and vigor.

At every home football game crowds surged by the ticket booth into the bleachers of the white concrete stadium. Morale as well as score rose to record-breaking heights, as the Whirlwinds whirled to another victory. The tables weren't completely turned at the out-of-town games, either, for besides the team, cars of loyal rooters followed the Whirlies as far as half-way across the state to lend the team their earnest support toward another victory. Defeat sometimes came, even to the best of teams, but at those times good sportsmanship prevailed as fans looked forward to the next game, and, perhaps, another victory.

CHEERLEADERS—Helped the fans urge the "big team" on. Super-animated cheerleaders, all eleven blessed with strong vocal cords and an abundance of energy and school spirit, kept the stands ringing with victory shouts.

HEAD CHEERLEADER Phil Causey leads fans in hearty support.

GHS CHEERLEADERS: Head, Causey; Fields, Wallace, Perkins, Dixon, Anderson, Steed, Bumpass, Autry, Thompson. Absent: Mattox.

RINGING "victory bell" is cherished cheerleader privilege.

Every game found the cheerleaders, in their natty blue and white uniforms, along the side-lines leading the student body as they rooted for the team. Whenever the game was played out of town, the cheerleaders went too, to boost morale and spark the cheering section. At the most crucial moment in any game, head cheerleader Phil Causey would mount the platform and yell, "Gimme a 'G'!" Whether in victory or defeat every game ended with the singing of the beloved Alma Mater, led by the cheerleaders. Hearts, light with victory or heavy with defeat, filled with love for GHS as the strains of the school song floated out into the night air.

PART SIX - CLUBS

Chapter I - Service Clubs Earning Community Thanks

THE KEY CLUB was never content to let an opportunity to serve GHS pass unnoticed. They started the school year off with name tags, so that the ordeal of learning dozens of new names became a little lighter.

KEY CLUB members befriend "Y" youngsters and share an exciting experience at a Whirlie football game.

KEY CLUB supplied programs at home basketball games.

Biggest project of their year was the publication of the directory, complete with student and faculty names, addresses, and phone numbers. They worked on this for weeks and paid for it by selling advertising and sponsorships. Thus it was a generous gift as well as an indispensable one to students and teachers.

During the fall and winter the club planned and carried out several other useful projects. To a home football game they took as their guests a group of happy YMCA youngsters. They had programs printed to give out at all home basketball games and to sell at the state tournament. They secured over five hundred signatures to a manimoth telegram, which went to our basketball team in Asheville just before a crucial game—and surely helped them win.

KEY CLUB'S KEY MEN: Secretary McGregor, President Hudgins, Vice-President Bowen, Treasurer Craig.

They braved the chill winds around Jefferson Square in November to help collect for the United Fund. Then just before Christmas they gave hours of their time to help stuff seals and letters into thousands of envelopes for the sale of TB Christmas seals.

The Key Club met regularly every week over a "Dutch" supper at the Mayfair. There they had frequent programs and worked out plans and details for their many projects.

Their social life was obviously not the primary concern of the Key Club members, for as a club they had only one party all year—a hayride.

KEY CLUB DIRECTORIES arrive; faculty, students, and vital phone numbers need not be a mystery now.

By commencement time this year their treasury could provide two $150 scholarships for seniors. One of these went to a boy, the other to a girl, who had been chosen on the basis of their service to GHS.

JUNIOR CIVITAN members were as busy as the Key Club with useful and varied projects. From the first day of school through football and basketball seasons, they kept catchy and effective posters here and there around school as reminders to support the Whirlies. New posters constantly replaced old ones, and the resourceful Junior Civitans never seemed to run out of ideas for building school spirit. At the beginning of the football season they made and suspended on the main building a huge banner saying "Go, Whirlies!" and which no GHS student approaching the building from the front could ignore. Also during the football season, this club was responsible for the mammoth bonfire before one of the home games.

Periodically the club brought everyone upto-date with small printed cards — "pocket bulletin boards"—giving schedules of sports events, assemblies, and other programs. They also had a bulletin board in the main hall to keep Senior High informed and awake to important dates and deeds.

At any collection of funds for a worthy purpose, Junior Civitans were among the first on hand. They worked enthusiastically to support the United Fund, Heart, Polio and TB drives.

Their biggest project was compiling and publishing the student handbook for the next year's sophomores. This interesting and enlightening little booklet does much to prevent the embarrassing effects of time-worn upper-classmen jokes about the "third floor of the science building" and the "elevator in the main building."

LOS CONDES was organized nearly a year ago, when four boys who were not affiliated with any club at Senior High decided to start a service club. During the organization period many problems arose. First they needed a sponsor; they met with Mr. John Neal, of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and explained their ideas and problems. Mr. Neal provided the adviser they necded—Mr. Jack Coble—who helped the boys draw up a constitution which firmly states that the purpose of the club is to serve the school and the community. Though special meetings were called when necessary, the regular meetings were held at 6:30 in a local cafeteria. In selecting the twenty-one boys who comprised the closed membership, the boys tried to find students who had manifested good character, school spirit, and a desire to perpetuate the principles of the club.

ALPHA OMEGA members continued this year the record of service and wholesome recreation so typical of last year's club. Their new adviser, Mr. Lody Glenn, met with them at their regular weekly meetings to advise them and encourage their efforts to serve.

They sold Christmas cards to raise their money for World Service. They joined other Hi-Y's in helping collect for community projects, such as the March of Dimes and TB fund.

LES AMIS, another of the Hi-Y clubs, contributed its share of projects and fun. To raise their pledge to World Service, Les Amis polished off their salesmanship tactics and sold boxes of candy all over town.

Another project that called for salesmanship and helped to replenish their treasury was a sale of Christmas trees. After Christmas they gave their time when the March of Dimes demanded young people to hold collection boxes on street corners.

At their regular weekly meetings they supplemented their programs with ping pong games, pool, and television. One of their happier gatherings was a swimming party to which they brought their dates.

LES FRERES, the oldest of the Hi-Y clubs, continued its fine record of service this year. Its motto, "To create, maintain, and extend sound principles of good character throughout the home, school, and community," inspired many of the club projects this year. The boys washed windows for their pledge to the United Fund, sold tickets to the Wake Forest-Carolina Freshman game for the benefit of the YMCA boys' camp, and peddled Christmas cards to help raise a donation to world service.

Y-TEEN delegates to the 1956 regional Y-Teen conference were singing. "Camp Sequoyah, here we come!" as they got off the rickety bus. With squeals and screams they greeted old conference buddies and hello-ed new friends. This was the beginning of a week that was an inspiration to every Y-Teen who attended. Each delegate took home not only ideas for club program, but many new friendships and a true picture of what being a Y-Teen really means.

After school began in September, the Rainbow girls worked at making favors to give at Thanksgiving to the Masonie Home. Before Christmas they collected food, clothing, and toys for a needy family and a small gift for each child at the Oxford Orphanage.

For fun during the year the girls and their dates had frequent parties, including several eovered-dish dinners.

YOUNG LIFE — Fifty kids squeeze like sardines in a small living room; a brown paper-back songbook sails through the air; Kirby drawls, "Sa-y, Gan-ng," and another Young Life meeting opens. Started a year ago by a group of Senior High students under the name of ICY, this club has grown steadily. At a glorious weekend camp in Asheville the ICY ers were introduced to the Young Life Campaign, a national organization led by and aimed at young people. Two weeks after coming home, ICY officially changed its name to Young Life. To start this new ball rolling the White Sisters, a singing trio, came down from New York and

Chapter II - Social Clubs for Play and Projects

BELLETTES at the first football game in eonviet suits . . . Bellettes at school with no lipstick and their clothes turned inside out . . . Bellettes pensively bemoaning the tortures of initiation, but looking forward to next year when they may decree a similiar punishment to new members—these girls have much to smile about.

After initiation, old and new members met to get down to the serious business of making this year the best in Bellette history. Presidents Naney Brady and Joy Brown presided over discussions on subjects from boy friend problems to matters of grave social concern. By selling doughnuts and making contributions, members raised enough money to send Care packages to a needy family in Europe. This was such a success that they decided to make it a continuous project.

The big dance came in December. The Bellettes and SDC's combined to make the Christmas affair bright and festive. Romantie "Moonglow" was the theme.

In April the Bellettes gave an Easter party to the ehildren at the Polio Hospital. A great fuzzy bunny distributed baskets to the patients, while club members provided entertainment in a talent show.

The Bellettes have planned a picnic trip to Hanging Rock and a beach trip for early summer.

BSC girls started this year in great style with members and their mothers congregating for the Mother-Daughter banquet in the Dolly Madison room. At the first football game the new BSC's, carrying bright red candles, paraded in nightcaps and gowns.

They labored together uptown, cleaning car windows for the United Fund. On another Saturday, this time in a cold drizzle, they stood around patiently collecting donations for the TB fund. But the discomforts of these fundraising drives have long been replaced in their memories by a feeling of pride in the good they did. Selling doughnuts to pay for the fabulous "Sweetheart" dance was inevitable. They heaved sighs of relief when the doughnut company forgot to deliver the goods; but the sighs were wasted, for another day had to be set aside for selling "those necessary evils."

At the year's end the BSC's held a farewell party at the Plantation for the Seniors, and now all of them are looking forward to the day when they'll be "off to the beach!"

DDT CLUB social whirl was off in a rush when the incoming sophomores, excited about their first party, and the 1956 graduates, soon to be off to college, were honored with a progressive dinner. Initiation night introduced the sophomores dressed as babies and looking coy as they performed the feats imposed upon them.

During the fall, with all the other school activities, the members peddled doughnuts, and several Saturdays they spent downtown collecting money for various charitable organizations.

Christmas brought the dance, "Mistletoe Mist," with the LSP's at Sedgefield Manor.

As their special Christmas project, the girls collected clothing for four orphaned girls. In the spring the girls were just as busy as ever with the long anticipated Plantation party and the fish fry. There was the annual spring beach trip, ending with sunburned faces, missing clothing, much fatigue and many happy memories. The DDT's, the oldest club at Senior, celebrated their tenth anniversary with an alumnae tea. They did not lag behind with their service projects as several worthwhile ones were carried out during the spring. One of these was the visit to the Masonic Home at Easter.

The members had their share of spend-thenight parties and also their share of mishaps with drinks spilled on carpets and prized china broken. Of course the weekly Wednesday night meetings with their noise, home work-doers, boys, and little business will be the most cherished part of DDT'er's days.

ESA CLUB—Red and white outfits and large, economy-size lollypops distinguished new members of ESA at the traditional initiation football game in September. A slumber party ended the day of hazing, and the year was off to a great start.

First big event on the busy schedule was the ESA-WST dance. Invitations were issued, asking couples to share the late October mood and dance under the spell of "black magic." The Christmas progressive dinner, the slumber parties, the spring Plantation party, the wonderful week-end beach trip in May, and the tea for incoming sophomores followed in succeeding months, bringing more thrills and experiences to ESA members.

Service, too, filled a large part of their time, and the girls found a warming feeling of satisfaction from supporting a foreign orphan, washing car windows for the United Fund, and soliciting funds for other worthy causes.

ESA SENIORS put lusty lungs to good use, blowing for a hole in one. They are Wilson, Kellam, Ogburn, President Garvin, Atcheson, White, Van Kerekhove.

Although the 1957 graduation left seven new names and faces to learn and seven others never to be forgotten, it also brought to an end another year of loving fun and fellowship, neatly packaged and marked especially for ESA.

GWI CLUB — With thoughts of oncoming beach trips never stuffed too far back in their minds, GWI members planned projects and parties that made this year the greatest. Saying goodbye to old seniors and welcoming new members at the Mother-Daughter tea began the whirl of activities.

In tall black hats initiates weathered the first football game and a slumber party at Jan and Judie's house. Supper, a football game, and open house at Anne West's filled another evening with gayety; and a fishfry added to the fall fun. The annual progressive dinner made the Christmas season more festive, as everyone feasted and celebrated Santa's recent visit. During January GWI's collected money for the March of Dimes, one of the many projects they participated in throughout the year.

Although everyone was excitedly awaiting the big dance to be given with the Les Soeurs in May, they had another party in early spring. When May finally rolled around, confederates danced under their flag at an "Old South" ball. The next week end's activities were centered at Myrtle Beach as everyone baked in the sun before returning home to cram for exams. So ended the school year for the GWI's, who look forward to more fun on another beach trip during the summer.

LES SOEURS found this new year packed with fun and surprises for every member. The fish fry followed by an open house in the fall started everything off with a bang. The new sophomores proved themselves worthy additions to the club by riding bicycles to school one morning and being properly initiated at the first football game.

The year had many activities in store. The Thanksgiving Eve Plantation party, the progressive dinner held during the Christmas holidays, and the spring dance given with the GWI's at Sedgefield are all cherished memories, dear to each girl. The slumber parties at Jane Flynn's and Harriet Coble's and the time spent selling twenty-five dozen Teardrops cloud the starry eyes of a "little saint" as she looks back over the past year. Of course, she simply couldn't forget those fabulous socials: The Mother-Daughter Tea, the Alumnae Dinner, the Thanks-

SDC girls returned to school immediately after a week at Myrtle Beach, full of ideas about the initiation of new members at the first football game.

The properly initiated new members were perhaps a bit dubious of the sanity of their superiors when the first club meetings brought forth an abundance of jokes, wild ideas, and mad notions typical of the senior and junior SDC's.

SDC CLUB MEMBERS—First row: Carter, Elig, Lea, Gibbs, Kearns, Eberenz, Greenberg, Ellinwood, Owen.

Second row: Beall, Rose, Paschall, Adams, Bittinger, Yonng, Biddy. Third row: Palmer, Katsikas.

The first of many slumber parties, this one at Carolyn's house, proved that sophomores are sometimes handy to have around; and Betty's surprise birthday party added extra gayety to an already hilarious club meeting.

The Christmas dance, held jointly with the Bellettes, proved that the drudgery of the many doughnut and Kleenex sales was not in vain, for the dance was termed "simply dreamy" by an exuberant sophomore, and everyone agreed.

In January they joined the other club members on street corners to help collect for the March of Dimes. Throughout the year the girls were looking for worthy projects as often as they made plans for parties.

SIGNETS—The Signet social train was joined by new members after their hilarious initiation at the first home football game. This really set the train rolling, and they kept it going with the Bermuda Ball at Susies'. Slumber parties were fun, especially when Lynn's house was turned "topsy-turvy."

After the rush of the Christmas party, the girls began to make plans for their dance with the BSC's in February. This was held in the King Cotton ballroom, and everyone danced with her favorite fellow to the old familiar strains of "Lct Me Call You Sweetheart."

After graduation came the long-awaited trip to Myrtle Beach. It was a perfect end for a year full of fun and useful projects. They had helped raise money for the United Fund and had given gifts to needy families. The Signets ended the year with a feeling of satisfaction in the good they had been able to do.

There was plenty of fun and hilarity at the meeting every week. Larky was always wailing, "Be quiet, y'all! Please!" Their patient and loyal adviser, Mrs. Henson, was always around to furnish advice and other help.

SLC CLUB members, deeked out "Ivy League," began the new year in fashion. The new members, however, soon had to don the eostumes of Mother Goose for the first Whirlie football game. A slumber party, minus slumber, ended the hectic but enjoyable initiation.

New members found fun, frolic, and food at meetings and the pride of working together in community projects a new and happy experience. December found these busy gals exehanging ivy stripes and buckles for party frocks. An evening of Plantation dining and dancing and a Coke-tail party heading their festive schedule. At their spring dance, given with the Venettes, "Pastel Pink" reigned in gala decorations. Later a breakfast and slumber party provided a chance for discussion of the big event.

The months passed quickly, filled with projects and parties, but happily the beach trip was still in the future. With each giving, there was much to be gained, and all agree that they're in the right league for fun and friendship.

Highlighting the fun for this busy year were several parties at the Schiffman home on Pinecroft road, with everyone pitching in on work or play. A weekend at the beach in May took everyone's mind off the dreaded examinations, for a little while, at least. In June, after graduation, old and new members are to gather again at the beach for one last fling. The "Barons" will see to it that no one has a dull moment there.

Sam Edwards—rounded up their friends to swell the number of members in the club to the present twenty-five. They have met every Wednesday night, usually at the home of some member. There were frequent discussions of a worthy project to be done; now and then some other serious business for the boys to carry out appeared. Mostly there was socializing.

One project they took an active part in was the polio drive. They stood daringly in the middle of uptown streets hoping to ensnare every passing motorist for a donation. At the end of the day they counted over $200 from their little collection cans.

They had several parties throughout the year. They took their dates to the Plantation on New Year Eve to say a festive goodbye to 1956. Early in May they went to the beach for a week end; and now, as this school year draws to a close, they are all set to go back to the beach for a week of celebration.

THE SYITT CLUB began their year with free cheers, passing printed copies of all school yells to the entire student body. Efforts paid off as the cheers boomed forth from every corner at Whirlie sports events. Collecting for the United Fund and TV drive always found a place in their busy Saturday schedules.

Anderson, Eskridge, Quinn, Lineweaver, Causey, Hall, D. Watkins.

Every time the treasury fund began to dwindle, a napkin sale was used to jack it up. Able salesmen kept their neighborhoods well supplied with "such a most useful product."

Charlie Quinn, club president, was host for the two traditional club parties at his family's cabin. Buddy Johnson and his skits provided entertainment, and the group howled its approval, bringing him back again.

As the doors of school close for the summer, the club members and alumni are making a beeline for the beach. For months the Syitt clubbers have been planning the jaunt to Ocean Drive as a proper close to another year of fun.

PART SEVEN - FEATURES

Chapter I — Special Events as Sparkling Highlights

NEW BUILDINGS were two spectacular additions to our expanding campus. The streamlined home economics building, with its dayafter-tomorrow functional design and equipment, its spacious and handsome rooms and its nursery school made home economics all the more popular with students. The ultramodern music building had its latest in color and design, its numerous practice rooms, and its air-cooled ventilation system, among pleasing features to make the musicians happy. Both buildings added a jaunty "new look" to Senior High.

MUSIC BUILDING is ultramodern in design for perfect acoustics and convenience.

HOME ECONOMICS BUILDING displays newest in functional equipment, nursery school, all-purpose rooms.

ELECTIONS—This year was election year, and not only on the national level, for there was some rather forceful "politicking" right here. The sophomores started the year with a barrage of posters; printing presses turned furiously to supply the steady demand for propaganda. Realizing the importance of their vote, crowds stormed the registrars. Among campaign slogans galore, students received ballots and devoted all attention to their marking. The results were music to some ears, discord to others, but soon things were back to normal with the new leaders assuming school responsibilities.

VOTING is serious business during school elections.

COLLEGE DAY presents opportunity for juniors and seniors to seenre information on higher education.

COLLEGE representatives discuss individual plans.

COLLEGE DAY — Prospective collegians, eager to learn more of their future Alma Maters, filled the boys' gym for College Day, October 24. During the morning, GHS juniors and seniors talked with college representatives, while students from Curry and Guilford County high schools visited with them during the afternoon. Members of student groups that sponsored College Day acted as hosts and hostesses to the representatives who were served lunch in the new home economics building.

CAREERS DAY brought Prof. Lee from State College to enlighten prospective aero-mechanical engineers.

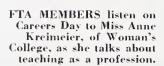

Where can I get an application? How much is tuition? Do you offer a good course in music? These and hundreds of similar questions were answered by counselors from approximately seventy-five colleges and universities. Their information and helpful suggestions will aid many of us in choosing the right college.

CAREERS DAY, a semi-annual project at Senior, was arranged by the student council for November 29. They spent weeks in preparation and writing letters, which brought forty-one representatives to explain their various chosen careers to groups of students that had expressed interest in their fields. Every student went to two discussions. Largest groups chose secretarial work, armed forces, nursing, and teaching. Everything from fine arts to mechanics had its group of interested students.

Mr. Philip Weaver gave a keynote address that left the students plenty to think about and impressed them with the serious nature of Careers Day.

The student-faculty basketball game at lunchtime was full of surprises and hilarious situations. The faculty cheerleaders made their own rules as they went along—which assured their team an easy victory.

A CROWN is presented by Jey Deifell to Homecoming Queen Libby Garvin, escorted by Bill O'Brien, school president.

HOMECOMING DAY, for both alumni and students, was colorful and exciting. Libby Garvin was crowned Homecoming Queen as the Whirlies continued to win. Adding to the pageantry, Senior High musicians presented a medley of "King and I" tunes. Fireworks shooting up from the darkened stadium added a sparkle and glow that made this a night to long remember.

MANGER SCENE climaxed the pageant by seniors and nursery school tots to honor the birthday of Jesus.

CHRISTMAS PAGEANT, given by the seniors, had as its theme "The Story of the Nativity." Many seniors helped Miss Mims and Miss Wales to produce the beautiful and moving pageant. It was given in pantomine this year, rather than in tableaux as in other years. Choral groups and senior members of the orchestra sang the carols and Christmas hymns with the scenes.

TUMBLERS perform for pleasure of Queen and court.

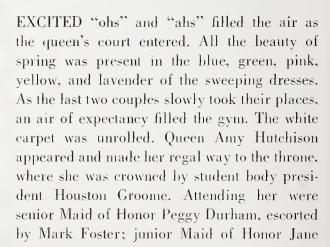

1956 MAY DAY ATTENDANTS and escorts — Garvin, Baynes: Poole, Boggs; Baldwin, Carruthers; Wilson, Wible; Holley, Haley; White, Michaux; L. McGregor, CIRCUS ANIMALS act under Wild Bill Kellam's whip.

MAY DAY 1956—The crowds packed the bleachers in the gym balcony and were pressed against the railing in eager anticipation, as notes of "Pomp and Circumstance" poured from the band. Dreary weather and a disfiguring pipeline excavation across the front lawn had driven the May Day festivities indoors. This was a fact more fortunate than otherwise, as the circus theme of this May Day demanded a "big top."

J. McGregor; Durham, Foster; Lynch, Robinson; Queen Hutchison, Groome; Bumpass, Jester; Lambeth, O'Brien; Duncan, Glascock; Wells, Morgenstern;

Welch, Cansey; Williams, McNairy; Moring, Anderson; Merriman, Tate.

Lynch, escorted by the president of the senior class, Dick Robinson; and sophomore Maid of Honor, Marsha Bumpass, escorted by John Jester.

LIKE MAGIC, the gym—scene of so many tense ball games—had been transformed into a gala circus scene. There were impudent clowns, some amusing in the bulging muscles evident beneath feminine dress, others startling in the gaudiness of their garb. Acrobats rushed out, amazing spectators with their feats of strength and agility, accomplishing double flips, somersaults and headstands on trampoline and tumbling mats. Biggest attraction was the hosts of "wild animals"—beguiling, somewhat uncoordinated elephants, madly gamboling rabbits, even an unbelievably huge and extended caterpillar. All of these creatures were more appealing than fearful, but with the ringmaster cracking a whip over their disrespectful heads they gave the circus a note of true realism.

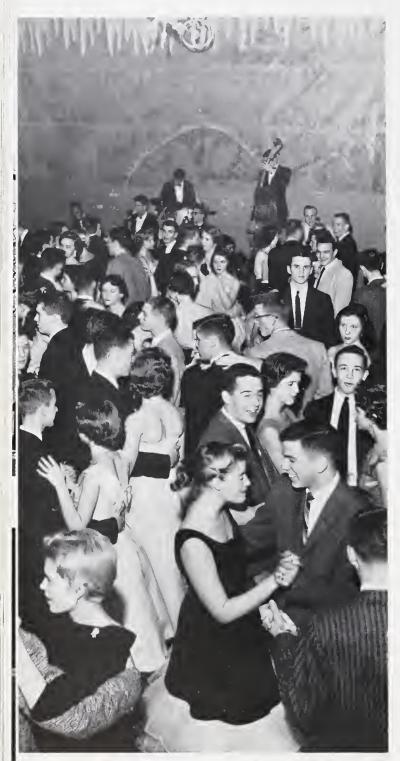

FINALLY barefoot girls in soft spring colors appeared to wind the may pole, gracefully faithful to the old tradition. All this time, cavorting clowns were still drawing bursts of laughter, doing their best, too, to draw attention from other performers. The court ended the program with the stately minuet, annually the grand finale. May had now been officially welcomed.

RADIANT QUEEN AMY Hutchison is crowned by Houston Groome as Maid of Honor Peggy Durham and escort Mark Foster smile approval at student's choice.

Chapter II — Social Events, Brilliant and Memorable

NORTHERN LIGHTS and music by the Barons set the mood; couples celebrating exams' end take happy advantage of it.

DANCES—In formal attire or in loafers and Bermudas, students found it fun to dance and to talk. Problems were forgotten, time sped by as music put a million miles between them and that dreaded book review.

OPEN HOUSES were frequent and popular. Every cool, crisp Friday night, if there was a home game, Senior turned out "en masse" to cheer the Whirlies, then surged into the girls' gym to celebrate the victory. After the Homecoming game, the elated teenagers danced in the boys' gym, their rhythmic tapping muffled by argyles or white socks. Twerp night—when girls did the inviting, bought the tickets, even became the chauffeurs for their dates—furnished the theme for another successful open house. During basketball season there were more furpacked open houses after the games.

ROCK AND ROLL MUSIC of teenage music-makers hold visitors to first open house in rapt attention.

AT SENIOR PROM bouffant dresses, white jackets, romantic music, a party mood made "Moments to Remember."

DANCING to the music of the Barons was great at open houses, but even more special at the Midwinter's Dance on January 23. The girls' gym was transformed by northern lights behind the bandstand and suspended snowflakes and icicles. These ethereal decorations were appropriate for a night glowing with "Northern Lights."

COMMENCEMENT WEEK, 1956, had been a week crammed with "Moments to Remember." On May 23 the faculty honored the seniors at a tea in the Alumnae House at Woman's College. Juniors in the orchestra played a muted background for happy chatter. On Friday afternoon seniors were guests of Lindley Park Pool; or some who preferred a less strenuous afternoon were guests of the Carolina Theater at a movie. Night brought the long anticipated senior prom. The prom, held in the boys' gym. was a brilliant occasion. Senior class officers, council members, and homeroom officers took part in a figure during intermission. A committee of parents served refreshments; the orchestra played everyone's favorite songs. But even in the midst of the laughter and dancing, Seniors looked forward to receiving their diplomas.

AT TEA SENIORS and faculty remember and laugh at shared experiences as they happily predict future.

Chapter III — Commencement — a Series of Rich Rewards

COMMENCEMENT 1956 was a happy climax for seniors, a finale to twelve years of growth and varied experience. To many seniors, tangible rewards came on Awards Day, when 200 received recognition and awards for exceptional scholarship and extra-curricular activities.

CLASS DAY had as its theme "The Senior High Story." It was a mixture of funny episodes and nostalgic backward glances. Scencs included realistic or satirical experiences from the past of class members, and dozens of them appeared on the stage this one last time, to entertain as they reminisced.

A BACCALAUREATE SERMON by Dr. John A. Redhead took the seniors to the Presbyterian Church on Sunday. What he said gave them much to think about, for he spoke of ambitions and possible achievements in their future.

AWARDS DAY, with its array of coveted trophies, offers tangible evidence of outstanding achievements.

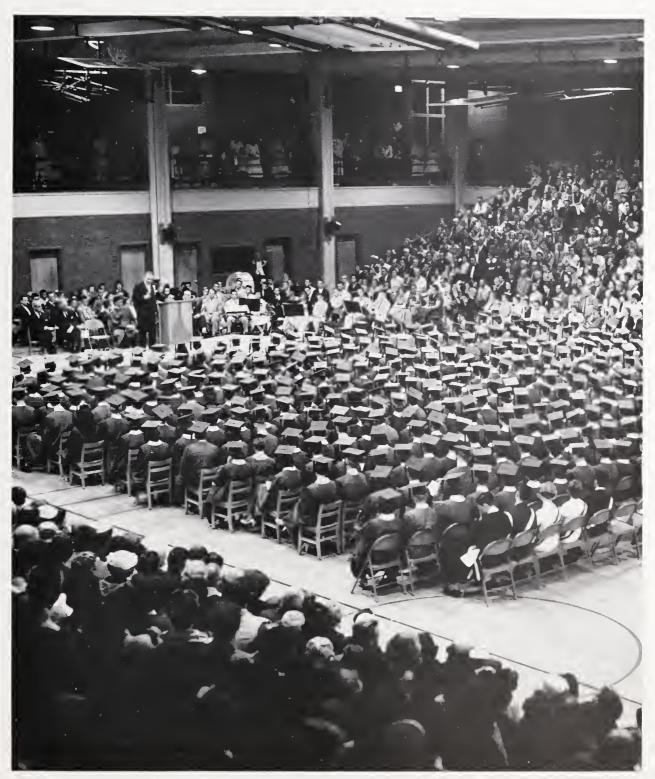

WITH HEARTS both glad and sad, seniors sing the "Alma Mater" at Class Day, their last student assembly.

"GAY PAREE" provides a romantic setting as the senior class present their history to fellow students.

GRADUATION night came on June 1, and it was held for the first time in the gym. The speaker was Dr. Kenneth Goodson. What he had to say was inspiring and not too long, for the biggest reward was yet to come — that cherished diploma, symbol of so much, passport to so much more.

SENIORS FACE GRADUATION with a mingled doubt and confidence as they achieve a new independence.

As we go to press . . .

Now, at last we can breathe a sigh of relief. The last caption is written, the last copy typed, and the last proof has been returned from the engravers. Frankly, at times we doubted that this day would ever come, and without the help of scores of people we know it wouldn't have. To all those who gave so willingly when we asked, and sometimes before we could ask, we are deeply grateful.

To Mr. Gordon Brightman and Mr. John Hancock of Jahn and Ollier Engraving Company, who gave so willingly all the inspirational and technical advice we needed; to Mr. Frank Fleming and Mr. Earl Powell of Washburn Printing Company, who patiently listened to our ideas and problems; to Mr. Carol Martin and Mr. Malcolm Miller, of Martin's Studio, who deserve the credit for our consistently superior candid and group photography; to Mr. Kenneth Plott of Belk's Studio, who made our individual pictures; to Mr. Dale Kearns, who generously shared with us many of his sports shots; to the Greensboro News-Record and to High Life, for being true friends in need; to the faculty for their indispensable cooperation; and especially to Mr. Stanley Johnson, Mrs. Cordelia Walke, Miss Rowena Montague, Miss Ida Belle Moore, and Mrs. Jesse Coltrane, for their many invaluable services; to Miss Sara Mims and to her creative writing class; to our advertisers; to Mr. A. P. Routh, who guided us faithfully in all financial matters, and Miss Virginia Powell, who is responsible for the success of this and every other Whirligig; to the entire staff who worked beside us and put up with us to the end. To these people and to every cooperative student at Senior High, we say a most sincere and fervent, "Thanks!"

Kay and Jane
